THE Plantation called Palma Real, situated on the Sea Coast of East Florida, about midway between St. Augustine and the mouth of the St. Johns River, and about twenty miles from either, containing 549 60-100 acres by recent survey of the United States surveyor—about 200 acres of which is as good high hammock as and it is believed that the whole of it would produce as good sea Island cotton and provisions, as any of them—and is so situated as to afford a fine pros-pect of the sea on the East side, and of St. Diago plains on the West side, and these plains affo excellent range for stock of every kind. E., East, or S. E., by the large high sea shore banks, which bounds it on the East side, and from floods of water by the upper dam, if kept tight; and as no other wa-April 18—2awt29Jy
